

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's talk to a bank teller.

Learning Outcome

Accurately explain information about interests, hobbies, and preferences in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about money and banking.
- I can make a simple offer.
- I can say no politely.

With your partner:

- How often do you visit the bank?
- Do you like it when bank tellers make you offers? Why or why not?

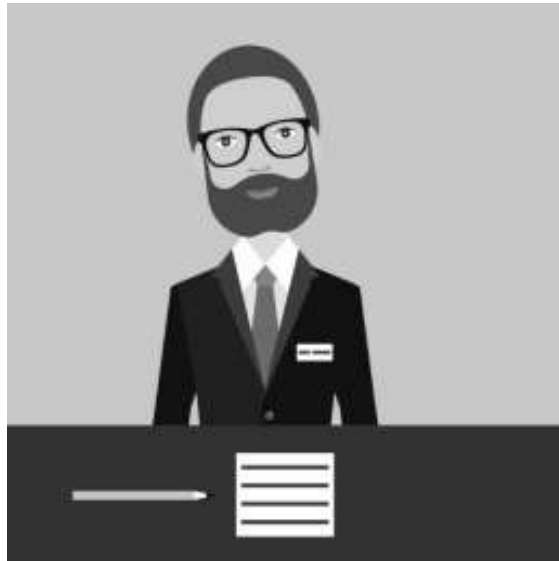

Let's Explore!

The bank teller offers Sally a prepaid travel card. Does Sally sign up?

* To "sign up" means to register for something.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Can I check my bank statements online?
Bank Teller: You definitely can. You can log into your bank account online.
Sally: Okay. How do I do that? Just type in my account number and password?
Bank Teller: That's correct. Do you bank online often?
Sally: No. It is convenient for travel, right?
Bank Teller: Would you be interested in trying our prepaid travel card?
Sally: What is that?
Bank Teller: It is a prepaid card. You need to load it with a certain amount of local currency before you travel. You can use it to pay for purchases. When your card starts to run low on funds, you can reload it online - even when you are in Europe.
Sally: Hmm, that sounds like a good idea, but I'm not interested right now. Thanks for the offer.

Let's Practice!

Let's make a simple offer.

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentences. Write each word in the correct order.

1. you / I / ? / Can / help

2. prepaid / in / ? / travel / interested / card / our / trying / be / Would / you

3. card / for / like / ? / up / the / Would / to / sign / you

4. card / How / about / this / ?

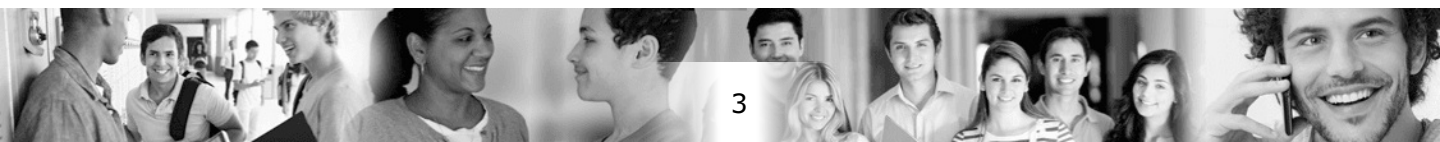

Let's Practice!

Time to practice saying no politely!

Instructions: Practice reading aloud the sentences with a partner.

1. Hmmm ... that sounds like a good idea, but I'm not interested right now.
2. Thanks for the offer.
3. No, that's OK. Thank you.
4. No, I'm fine. Thank you.
5. I appreciate it, but I'm OK.

Extension Activity

Let's role-play! You are at the bank. Read the role cards and practice speaking.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Read each role below and choose one.
- Practice the situation with your partner.
- Change roles.

Role 1: You are the customer. The bank teller offers you a credit card. Say no politely.

Role 2: You are the bank teller. You offer the customer a credit card. Use words about money and banking. They reject the offer.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I make offers using modals.

☐ ☐

I say no to an offer politely.

☐ ☐

I talk about money and banking.

☐ ☐

I act out being a bank teller and a customer.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to log in (verb): to type information into a website so you can use it e.g. You can log into the bank's website.
- bank account (noun): an agreement between you and the bank where you make deposits and take out money
e.g. I'd like to open a bank account, please.
- account number (noun): a number used to identify an account e.g. Type in your account number to log in.
- password (noun): a secret group of letters and/or numbers you must type in before you can log in e.g. Do I type in my password here?
- convenient (adjective): useful to you because it saves time
e.g. A credit card is convenient for travel.
- prepaid (adjective): paid before it is needed or used e.g. This is a prepaid credit card.
- to run low (verb): to near the end of an amount of something e.g. When the amount starts to run low, you can add more money.
- fund (noun): an amount of money available e.g. You can add more when you run low on funds.
- currency (noun): the money that a country uses
e.g. Remember to use the correct currency when traveling.
- to reload (verb): to add more; to fill up
e.g. You can reload your card online.

Learning Points

Making an Offer

When you are at the bank, bank tellers can make polite offers for a service or offer other forms of help. When making offers, it is common to use modals like would or can. These are common expressions you hear:

Can I help you?

Would you be interested in applying for a credit card?

How about a travel card?

Would you like ... ?

Saying No Politely

In many countries, you cannot just say the word "no". You should be more polite. To politely say no, you can use expressions like:

No, that's OK. Thank you.

No, I'm fine. Thank you.

Thanks for the offer, but no thank you.

I appreciate the offer, but ...

I'll pass, thank you.

I'm not interested right now.

Notice that these expressions use the Simple Present tense.

Examples:

• Bank Teller: Would you like to apply for a credit card?

Customer: Thanks for the offer, but no thank you.

